INTRODUCTION

Often times in life, God will bring us opportunity in our lives that could be seen as hardship or an impossible challenge. When the twelve spies brought their report to Moses, only two gave a positive report. These two men saw this land as opportunity and the promise God had for them and their people, not an impossible challenge. This was a test of faith for the promise that God had placed in front of them! As Brian points out in his message, this promise isn't only for you, but for the future generations. Let's be a people that seizes the opportunity presented in front of us and leave an inheritance for our future generations!

ENGAGE

- Opportunity comes knocking on our door more often than we think, although it doesn't always appear to be as such. Sometimes it looks like hardship and sacrifice is required to seize opportunities.
- What are some opportunities in your life that have may have required hardship and sacrifice?
- If you had to help someone see opportunities amidst the hardship, how would you help them?
- Read Numbers 13:27-33.
 - What are the implications of bringing a good report? A negative report?
 - Based on which report you bring, what does that say about your perspective on the promises of God/opportunities in your life?
 - How does seizing these opportunities set yourself and future generations up for a win?
